

Smart Materials Homework

Use the internet to research some Smart Materials that you did not learn about in class. This can be something that you have never come across before (and there are bonus points if you find something your teacher has never come across before!!).

For your material, write down:

- who invented/discovered it
- where/when this discovery took place
- information about why the material is 'smart' (remember the definition we wrote down in class)
- what the material is used for, or could be used for.
