Dear Parent/Carer,

SQA Examinations

With study leave starting on Monday for S4-6, I wanted to wish all of our students (and families!) the best of luck for the next few weeks. We know that this is an anxious time for many of our students and as the weather often heats up, it can also be difficult to focus and have the best time management and revision strategies. To support this, we have study seminars before exams and students are able to come into school any time to access staff or to self-study. The library will be available throughout the exam period if anyone would like to study onsite. Please remember that students should be in full uniform while in the building, whether this is for study seminars, general study, or their exams.

We expect students to come into school for all of their study seminars (these can be found here: https://www.lockerbieacademy.dumgal.sch.uk/curriculum/study_hub/supported_study.html) and also for their exams. They do not require to attend for the full day when these are on, however will receive a full day of attendance on our systems.

If students are returning to school for the start of our new timetable on Monday 2nd June, they require to attend an induction session on Wednesday 28th May at 1.45pm. This is where they will find out about what is expected of them in S5/6, what opportunities are available to them and they will also receive their new timetables.

Good Luck!

Yours faithfully,

Catherine McNay
